Application in Cloud Computing For Hospital Management (College Project).

In modern healthcare environments, there is a strong need to create an infrastructure that reduces time-consuming efforts and costly operations to obtain a patient's complete medical record and uniformly integrates this heterogeneous collection of medical data to deliver it to the healthcare professionals. Our work suggests a solution based on cloud computing implemented for hospital systems having as a result a better management, high speed for the medical process, and increased quality of the medical services. Cloud computing technology is still new but promises a revolution in the entire connected areas.

E-commerce Website Testing.

Most of the websites tested using "Pingdom" and "GTmetrix" tools for the performance testing and also manually tested. Here functionality testing, integration testing, usability testing, buddy testing and related testing carried out mostly.

Testing for resort reservations site on various OS platforms for clients.

The project consists of development and maintenance of product meant for resort and hotel reservations. This product is being developed for use from various O.S platforms such as Windows and latest mobile OS platforms like android and iOS. The application also has client server architecture which is used by the hotel staff and agents for reservations. As a tester my role is to test various modules of these applications.

Maintenance of Caseaware Application.

Here in caseaware project which comes in a law firm, we had maintenance of the application in which whether it works correctly or not i.e. its functionality and URN number generation for borrower and lender. Connectivity of modules to each other i.e. integration testing and the data execution that kind of work we have did there.

Testing of various functions in Caseaware and deployment of the structures.
